The All Days are Happy Days summer camp offers a week of fun, learning and activities for the child with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder. The University of Tennessee Boling Center for Developmental Disabilities sponsors the camp. Activities are targeted to the management of ADHD behaviors such as inattention, impulsivity and hyperactivity. The camp promotes opportunities for children to develop appropriate social skills through interaction with their peers. Staff includes clinical social workers, medical personnel, youth counselors and other professional staff.