New Affirmative Action Plan Disability/Veterans

The University of Tennessee is committed to equal employment opportunity and affirmative action. In addition, as a Federal contractor, the University is subject to the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990.

Employees, we want to know more about you! You are invited to provide the information to aid us in taking and evaluating affirmative measures that will assist UTHSC in complying with reporting requirements under Federal law addressing the VETS 100 and VETS 100A reports. UTHSC’s reporting requirements under Federal law occur annually; therefore, the Office of Equity and Diversity invites you to participate in this process each year. Even if you have completed this information in the past, please do so again in order to participate during this reporting year. Provision of the information is voluntary.

Information about veteran status and disability is kept confidential, except that 1) supervisors and managers may be informed with regard to restrictions on the work or duties of persons with disabilities and any necessary accommodations, and 2) first aid personnel may be informed when, and to the extent appropriate, the condition might require emergency treatment. You will not be subject to adverse treatment if you choose not to provide this information.

Please click on or copy and paste the following link into your web browser to access this survey (UT Net ID and password is required to login): www.uthsc.edu/aaii.

If you choose to participate, please do so by 11:59 p.m., Wednesday July 31, 2014. In the event there are employees in your department/area who do not utilize their UTHSC email address often, please encourage them to check their email to participate in this survey.

You may contact our office at 448-2112 if you have questions or need additional information. Or visit the United States Department of Labor website: http://www.dol.gov/vets/vets-100.html.

 All Participants will have their name entered into a drawing for a gift card. ALL faculty and staff members are eligible to participate!
On July 26, 1990, the Americans with Disabilities Act was signed into law. This landmark civil rights legislation reaffirmed the idea that all our citizens, regardless of disability, are entitled to the same privileges, pursuits, and opportunities as everyone else. There still remain many steps we must take together to ensure that the spirit and letter of that law are upheld.

“The promise of the ADA was that all Americans should have equal access and equal opportunity, including Americans with disabilities. The ADA was about independence and the freedom to make of our lives what we will. We celebrate that today, and we recommit ourselves to ending discrimination in all its forms”, stated President Obama in 2010 on the ADA’s twentieth anniversary.

Since its enactment, the ADA has opened many doors and sought to level the playing field for employment of Americans with disabilities. Still, however, the unemployment rate for persons with disabilities remains high. In 2010, President Obama signed an Executive Order to make the federal government a model employer for individuals with disabilities.

Civil Rights Act of 1964

On July 2, 2014, our country will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. This act was originally introduced as the Civil Rights Act of 1963 by President John F. Kennedy, but he was unable to garner enough support in Congress. After the assassination of Kennedy, President Lyndon B. Johnson was able to rally supporters to give the bill the attention that civil rights groups and many Americans longed for. The new law outlawed discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, and national origin in schools and public places. Additionally, the law established Title VII, which provides equal opportunity in employment.

Women’s Equality Day is August 26th!

Women’s Equality Day, an annual event in the United States, observed on August 26 since its inception in 1971, marking American women’s advancements toward equality with men. The date was selected to commemorate the 1920 passage of the 19th Amendment to the Constitution, granting women the right to vote. This was the culmination of a massive, peaceful civil rights movement by women that had its formal beginnings in 1848 at the world’s first women’s rights convention, in Seneca Falls, New York.

The observance of Women’s Equality Day not only commemorates the passage of the 19th Amendment, but also calls attention to women’s continuing efforts toward full equality. Advocates such as Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Ida B. Wells devoted decades of hard work to ensure that women’s voices could be heard.

A Preview of Things to Come

Attention!! Attention!! Have you visited the Office of Equity and Diversity webpage at http://www.uthsc.edu/oed/? Over the last few months we have added new staff and information about who does what in Equity and Diversity that may be accessed by clicking on or pasting the following link into your web browser http://www.uthsc.edu/oed/staff.php.

Knowing “Who Does What in Equity and Diversity” is essential because some important changes are effective on July 1, 2014. Specifically, the function of employee relations that encompasses performance management and the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) has now been absorbed by the Office of Human Resources. Concerns involving harassment and discrimination are still part of the OED equation, and we will still assist staff and faculty in making sure your concern is routed to Human Resources or Academic and Faculty Affairs when it is not under the OED umbrella. In the coming weeks and months OED will also introduce a revised complaint procedure (http://www.uthsc.edu/oed/EOC/UNIVERSITY%20OF%20TENNESSEE%20DISCRIMINATION%20COMPLAINT%20PROCEDURE.pdf), a two revised Qualtrics based forms that will enable the reporting of an incident (i.e., Judicial Incident Reporting Form) and file a complaint (i.e., UT Institutional Relations Complaint Form).

As it relates to “diversity and inclusion”, OED is in the process of creating resource network groups and a training/workshop request form for departments/units throughout UTHSC to experience. The resource networks group members will assist OED with advancing recruitment and retention efforts of faculty, staff, and students, assist with heritage celebrations and promote community events, professional development and networking and internal and external marketing. Training and workshops offered by OED will now cover topics like diversity in the workplace, unconscious bias, sexual harassment, ally training, generations in the workplace, diversity in the search process, cultural competence and other relative topics as it relates to diversity, inclusion and compliance.

Stay tuned and call (901-448-2112) or email (hsc-oed@uthsc.edu) if you have additional questions.
