Chancellor Edmund Pellegrino

"The student-teacher relationship has many similarities to the patient-physician relationship. In both circumstances, one person is seeking help from another who is presumably wiser and has power over the petitioner. Both student and patient must face personal challenges in emotionally trying situations. When the teacher helps the student in a compassionate and understanding way, he illustrates how the student can in turn give the same understanding to the patient, who is dependent on his humaneness as the student is dependent on the teacher's."

Dr. Roland Allen
Dean
Graduate School
Medical Sciences

"A problem of the health sciences university in the years ahead will be to seek a means of maintaining the quality of discipline-oriented training, while simultaneously producing people who can integrate scientific and social considerations at all levels."

Dr. Jack Wells
Dean
College of Dentistry

"The combination of the enthusiastic student with the wealth of teaching material on this campus provides a learning atmosphere that is unparalleled. As a result, the graduate enters his profession with greater confidence."

Ruth Neil Murry
Dean
College of Nursing

"Although students come to the Medical Units from different backgrounds, with different pre-professional requirements, and with different career goals, they all are seeking educational preparation to equip them to contribute effectively to the delivery of quality health care."

Dr. Lee Holder
Dean
College of Community and Allied Health Professions

"It is crucial that we work together with all disciplines — medicine, nursing, pharmacy, dentistry and all others — during our student days as well as during practice to achieve quality care. We believe that our graduates can be effective multi-disciplinary team members and contribute much in this respect."

Dr. Al Farmer
Dean
College of Medicine

"The appropriate role of the University is to act as the hub of a wheel thus uniting the various institutions of the medical center into a unit operating effectively toward a unified goal. There are very few institutions in the country that have the potential to adequately teach an innovative team approach to health care delivery. We are one of those institutions."

Dr. Seldon Feurt
Dean
College of Pharmacy

"The sophisticated technology associated with health care from dental to dermatology, from pediatrics to pharmaceutical is conceived in these research laboratories, developed in the Memphis Medical Center for the benefit of all people everywhere."

Lunch meetings . . . soggy tuna fish . . . constitutions . . . headaches . . . "The meeting will now . . ." Organized disorganization . . . parties . . . dues . . . A house for a year . . . monthly meetings once a quarter . . . organizations.
